THE MISSOURI TRAGEDY

ANOTHER STORY ABOUT THOSE BONDS.

Who Were the Aggressive Party?

HEAR BOTH SIDES.

(From the St. Louis Republican, April 30.) Mr. A. A. Zick, of the firm of Zick & Gosch, Pleasant Hill, with several other citizens of Cass county, called on Governor Brown yesterday in reference to the recent troubles in that county. Mr. Zick was the bearer of a letter to the Governor signed by A. O. Bryant, Sheriff of Cass county Captain George Harper, of the First National Bank, Pleasant Hill; David Humphries, Robert Adams and George Goseli, all prominent citizens of Pleasant Hill. Those gen-tlemen ask the Governor to send some persons on whom he can rely to investigate the condition of matters in Cass county, and request that troops be sent up to restore order and law, if found necessary. They represent everything as quiet, and that the Sheriff was able to enforce the execution of the law without assistance.

The statement of Mr. Zick puts a different coloring on the recent tragedy at Gun City than is represented by the reports already published. He says that the reports copied from the Kansas City and Holden papers have been so false and sensational that, even to those unacquainted with the connection which the editors of those papers had with the bond swindle, they would seem to be extravagant and published for the purpose of exciting another riot among the people. Mr. Zick says the evidence taken at the inquest shows that as the train stopped Cline drew his pistol and fired out of the window into the crowd standing by, wounding two men. He then rushed out upon the platform, and when charged with the shooting denied it, and in the melée which ensued he was shot twice and killed. Stephenson and Dutro also fired and ran into the Stephenson and Dutro also fired and ran into the baggage car, where the fight was resumed, and thus both were killed. Each had the marks of two wounds.

General Joe Shelby was not molested, as he offered no attack upon the people and was in no wise connected with the bond swindle. He was not a contractor upon the road nor was he in close connection with the Issuing of the bonds. He was a contractor upon the Kansas City and Memphis road, to which bonds had been issued by the Court, contrary to the remonstrance of almost the entire people of the county and in violation of a writ of injunction which had been issued restraining them from doing so.

It was then—some time last fall—that the secret society, which still exists, was formed. Its object was to protect the people from bankruptcy from the action of the County Court; the legal protection of the county by raising money to pay the necessary expenses in testing the question of the legality of that issue of bonds by the Court. Any person by paying one doilar could become a member. The constitution and bylaws of the society, which was called "The Protective Union Association of Cass County," were published in the papers. The meetings and proceedings were all public, and by its agency attorneys were employed, and a writ of injunction was granted, and which has been sustained. But the bonds were issued notwithstanding, and the amount, with interest, over $330,000, is a debt upon the county. The community, says Mr. Zlek, were patient under this wrong, and disposed to endure the injury, and made no demonstration until the court issued $229,000 bonds to a railroad which had been built without any vete of the people. The court and its confederates left the county and became fugitives from justice. By the exertions of the Sheriff, the President of the association and other citizens the parties inplicated were brought back to Cass county and bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury. No violence was offered to any of them, and they were as safe as at any place in to them.

The above statement from a respected citizen of Cass county presents another phase of the subject about which those nearest the scene of the recent tragody seem to be divided. A thorough investigation of the facts in the case is invited, and, of course, it will require time to ferret out and establish the truth of the representations made by either side.

tion of the facts in the case is invited, and, of course, it will require time to ferret out and establish the truth of the representations made by either side.

Mr. La Due, who came down from Henry county night before last, gives another version. He is under $25,000 bonds to appear at Harrisonville Circuit Court next Monday, but says he will not appear, as his life has been threatened, and it would not be prudent for him to go. He declares there is a reign of terror in the county. Matters appear quiet and peaceable, but it is only an appearance. The lives of cortain persons have been threatened, and if they should be found would be killed. Mr. La Due says the Profective Union Association (P. U. A.) In the county is said to embrace 1,000 persons, and that two-thirds of the population sympathize with the mob, and nothing can be done, except by an overwhelming force of troops. All officials are overawed. Whether Mr. La Due or Mr. Zick is right concerning the present state of affairs in Cass county subsequent events must determine.

Since the above information was obtained our reporter had an interview with Governor Brown, who was in receipt of fresh despatches last night from Adjutant General Sigel and the Commissioners sent by him to Holden to examine late matters, General Cockrell and Colonel Phillips. The purport of the despatches received is that quiet prevails in Cass county. There is no further excitement at Holden, and the Mayor does not anticipate any more trouble. Captain Phelan's company was stationed at Holden and will remain there as long as their presence is needed. The citizens of Pleasant Hill yesterday sent down a deputation to Holden, assuring the authorities of the latter place of their readiness to co-operate in restoring the reign of law and order, and procuring the arrest of the perpetrators of the recent outrages.

Adjutant General Sigel and the commissioners go to-day to Harrisonville, and will visit such other places as may be necessary to obtain the follest information in relation to the

The month of April was particularly prolific in the number of fires occurring there, as will be seen from the subjoined report, which was submitted to the Police Commissioners by the Fire Marshal of the Police Commissioners by the Fire Marshal of Brooklyn yesterday:—

GENTLEMEN—There were thirty-six fires in this city during the month of April, 1872. This is a great increase over the number for the previous month, and, strange to say, few of them have been caused by kerosene. As I have often stated before, carelessness is the great cause of fires. A glance at the statistical table herowith submitted, showing the cause of each fire, will prove this fact. The number of fires occurring here within the past few days is becoming alarming. The firemen have been at work constantly for hours, only to be called away to another fire before they could entirely extinguish the first; and I feel satisfied that nothing but their promptness, discipline and efficiency have saved the city from very large conflagrations. May I not suggest once more that those using fires in factories and other buildings exercise a little more care, and thus reduce the number of fires occurring from the cause; for the month foot up as follows:

Loss on buildings. $20,325
Insurance on buildings. 124,500
Loss on stock and machinery 60,240
Insurance on stock and machinery 133,520

timated actual loss. 99,463

The origin of fires may be traced to the following causes:

Careless use of matches, lights and fires, it unknown, 8; sparks from chimneys, fornaces, &c., 2; defective fines, 4; explosion of a liquid gas lamp, 1; spontaneous combustion, 2; incendiarism, y; and the remainder from various accidental causes.

Causes.

There was one death by fire during the month. On the 26th Inst. Mrs. Helfriech died at her residence, No. 36 Hopkins street, from the effects of burns received by the explosion of a kerosene oil lamp. Her husband was also severely burned. THE NEW DOMINION.

Consular Fees Charged by the Officers of the United States on Goods Passing Through in Bond-The Claims Arising from the Fenium Invasion.

OTTAWA, May 2, 1872. In the House last night Mr. Oliver moved an address for copies of all the correspondence respect-ing the fees charged by officials of the American government on goods passing through the United States in bond. He said the fees charged by the consular agents and others were very high, while American goods were allowed to pass through Canada free of charge.

Mr. DECOSMES said the people of British Columbia were deeply interested in this matter, as they were compelled to pay excessive charges on goods carried in bond through the United States.

Mr. Grass was glad the motion had been brought up. There was no doubt that the Canadisms suffered heavily in this respect. On each carload of coarse grain the charges amounted to from $10 to $20.

Mr. Whitte said that the lumbering interests of Georgian Bay were acriously affected by these high charges.

Mr. Workman stated that the Montreal merchants, who were already doing considerable business with British Columbia, were continually comparing of the trouble and annoyance they were put to in sending goods through the United States.

Mr. Marritr referred to the delays that Canadian vessels trading on Lake Michigan were subjected to, and hoped something would be done to remove the annoyance.

Mr. Haritson, speaking on behalf of the merchants of Toronto, said that a change in the system was necessary.

Mr. Tilley was not over sanguine of a change being effected; still the government would do everything in their power.

Mr. Cartwright moved a series of resolutions expressing regret that the imperial government had assumed the responsibility of withdrawing Canada's chaims against the United States arising out of the Fenian raids.
